HEALTH & WELLNESS

The WELL Building Standard is the world's first building standard focused on the effects of the built environment on human health and wellness.

It is a performance based system for buildings and interior spaces that improves the nutrition, fitness, mood and sleep patterns of its occupants. This offers a meaningful return on investment in terms of the tenant's personnel costs.

7 Concepts Behind WELL

- Air
- Water
- Nourishment
- Light
- Fitness
- Comfort
- Mind

Low-E (heat reflecting) curtain walls with glare minimization and thermal seal along with indoor lighting automatically adjust to changing natural light.

Open common area spaces and lobbies encourage movement to make taking the stairs more inviting. Indoor bike storage and lockers encourage alternative transportation.

The 428 has MERV 16 air filters, capturing 95% of air particles.

Public water is filtered for additives such as chlorine and fluoride at all drinking fountains, kitchenettes and showers.

THE 428

The 428 is the first building in the 7-state area to receive a WELL Certification and only the 17th in the country to be granted a Gold rating.

SUSTAINABILITY

LEED is the preeminent program of high-performance green buildings that provides the framework to create a healthy, resource-efficient, cost-effective building.

It is a third-party verification that a building was designed and built using strategies aimed at reducing energy and water usage, promoting better indoor air quality, and improving quality of life.

LEED certified buildings must meet certain goals and criteria within the following categories:

- Location and Transportation
- Materials and Resources
- Water Efficiency
- Energy and Atmosphere
- Sustainable Sites
- Regional Priority Credits
- Innovation

An analysis of 7,100 LEED-certified new construction projects showed at least a 10.5% improvement in energy performance in 92.2% of the projects.

District Energy provides heating and cooling services utilizing hot and chilled water. The chilled water reduces the use of refrigerants and 65% of the fuel for heating is produced by sourced wood waste.

There is a building wide organics and mixed use recycling program.

The existing building was repurposed from retail to office space and building materials and historic elements reused.

THE 428

The 428 is the first building in the 7-state region to be awarded WELL Gold and LEED Silver Certification for Core and Shell.
